President's Update (Gary Cassista)

The Board expects to do everything possible to make it a great MGA year.

Welcome to the 2019 edition of the CFN MGA. The board and I have already been spending time putting our heads together to bring the membership the best golf league experience possible. The past boards have given us a great starting point and we are committed to making it better.

The diversity of the members and their wide range of playing abilities is what make the MGA so much fun. The competition is only eclipsed by the fun factor. Our games are geared toward an enjoyable but competitive experience.

So on to the highlights, the course itself took a good beating in Florence but due to the hard work and diligence of Paul Hughes and his crew, it is coming back better than I have ever seen it. The game schedule is a good selection and getting better. Bill Hagel working with Ryan and Don in pro shop have revamped local rules to integrate with new USGA rules which should turn out to be a really challenging test for all. The new MGA Cup rules that mirror the FedEx Cup look especially fun and competitive, if you are not sure if this is something for you, please have a talk with a board member before making your final decision it is not to be missed. Opening day lunch after golf is where you want to be just the trash talk is worth your time.

There is so much happening this year it's hard to keep track. So, I welcome all, old and new to this year's MGA. As always, any questions or comments can be directed to any board member and let's keep it in the short grass.

You will receive an email every Tuesday morning allowing you to sign up for MGA events for the next week. So, for example you would have received an email on the 12th of March, to sign up for play on the 20th of March.

Pairing groups will be on the Brunswick Forest website (brunswickforest.com) on Tuesdays after 1pm.

To view pairings on the website, please go to Championship Golf, from there course events, next to view the pairings scroll down to Men's Golf Association, a link with the date that says, "Click Here for Pairings" will be at the end.

Once pairings are on the website, the golf shop will not re-post them. If you do not receive the email on Tuesday morning, don't worry ... all players will be able to use the Golf Genius portal.

If you still can't sign up, as a last resort, please email rprice@capefearnational.com and copy dhancock@capefearnational.com to sign up for events.

Humorous Golf Stories

(Joe Rychalski)

Sometimes you need more than practice

The Voice from the Clubhouse

It was a sunny Saturday morning, a little before 8 a.m., I was on the first hole at The Oaks of St. George Golf Club and beginning my pre-shot routine, when a piercing voice came over the clubhouse loudspeaker:

"Would the gentleman on the woman's tee back up to the men's tee please!"

I could feel every eye on the course looking at me. I was still deep in my routine, seemingly impervious to the interruption.

Again the announcement: "Would the man on the woman's tee kindly back up to the men's tee."

I simply ignored the guy and kept concentrating, when once more, the voice yelled, "Would the man on the woman's tee back up to the men's tee. please?!?!"

I finally stopped, turned around, cupped my hands and shouted back: "Would the jerk with the microphone please keep quiet and let me play my second shot!"

The Funeral Procession

Four golfers who like to gamble wind up in the same foursome. The pot builds throughout the day until they reach the 18th green, where Charlie has a chance to putt for dough. If he makes his 10-foot putt, he wins $200.

Charlie lines up his putt, but just as he's about to take his stance, a funeral procession begins passing by on the road that runs alongside the 18th hole.

Charlie steps away from his ball, sets down his putter, takes off his hat and places it over his heart, and waits for the funeral procession to completely pass. One all the cars in the funeral procession have passed, Charlie picks up his putter and begins lining up the putt again.

"Wow," one of his opponents says. "That was the most touching thing I have ever seen. You've got a makeable putt for $200, yet you stopped and paid your respects. You really are something."

"Well," Charlie says, "we were married for 25 years.

Secretary Report

(Rich LaBarbera)

My name is Rich LaBarbera I am the Secretary of the MGA. This is my third year in the MGA and my first year on the Board. I enjoy playing the MGA - it is both fun and competitive. What I never appreciated was how much work went into the planning and coordination of normal course of business, the weekly MGA events, special tournaments and interclub play. So when a friend and fellow MGA'er spoke of how we should all give back a little it struck a chord and I decided to volunteer. It turned out to be great decision as it is enjoyable being part of a dedicated and fun group of guys.

I mention this because I would encourage you to think about volunteering yourselves in the future when the current board members complete their terms.

With the Public Service Announcement out of the way I'll give you a brief insight of what the role of the secretary is. Main responsibility is to maintain the MGA Roster with all player demographics and specific options they selected, such as, tee box, MGA Cup participation, and whether you're playing the weekly "Skins" game.

I also send out the "Invitation Letter" to current members, release the "Welcome Letter" and weekly game summary from the President, publish the yearly Handbook (with input for the entire Board) and record the minutes of each Board Meeting.

I'm looking forward to playing with old friends and meeting new ones who are new to the MGA.

As a famous person once said (our President, Gary) "FAIRWAYS AND GREENS".

(Bill Hagel)

Understanding Local Rule E-5

Alternative to Stroke & Distance Relief

We've all done it. You hit a tee shot with your typical fade when a gust of left to right wind turns it into a slice. As you strain your eyes to try to see your ball land, you notice the white stakes just beyond the row of tall muhly grass right of the cart path. Well prior to 2019, you probably told your playing partners/opponents, "I guess I got to hit a provisional" (of course, you duck hook your provisional shot – but that's a story for another day). Or, in an even worse scenario, you think you are in pretty good shape after your tee shot, only to get to where your ball should be and it's no where to be found. If you're playing MGA or some other tournament, you trudge back to the tee box to hit your 3rd shot under the judgmental stares of the next foursome who just arrived at the tee.

Well cheer up, the USGA in the 2019 new rules of golf has given us a gift that will keep us from having to make that walk of shame: Local Rule E-5. If you have a copy of the Rules of Golf provided by the USGA with your USGA membership, you won't find Local Rule E-5 in that publication. You would need the "Official Guide to the Rules of Golf", which contains the rules, rules interpretations, committee procedures and model local rules. Since E-5 is an optional local rule, it is up to each course if they will adopt it for play (it can be for the entire course or just certain holes). Happily, after a bit of gentle persuasion from the MGA Board, Cape Fear National has adopted Local Rule E-5 for all holes. However, if you are playing in a tournament at another course, such as the Interclub, you should ask if they have Local Rule E-5 in effect. Then ask someone else after braving the blank stares from the guy behind the counter.

How it Works

If your ball went out of bounds (OB) or after a 3-minute search it is lost anywhere on the course EXCEPT in a penalty area, you can do one of two things to keep playing (legally), 1) Take stroke and distance relief, or 2) Play under Local Rule E-5. It is important understand you cannot do both. If you hit a provisional ball, you forfeit your right to proceed under Local Rule E-5.

If Your Ball Goes OB

It must be known or virtually certain that your ball is OB. Known or virtually certain means you are 95-100 percent sure your ball went OB. So sure, that you can reasonably approximate where your ball last crossed over the edge of the OB boundary (not where your ball comes to rest OB, which may be closer to the hole). This is called your Ball Reference Point. From this Ball Reference Point, look for the point on the edge of the fairway (the fairway on the hole you're playing) that is nearest to the Ball Reference Point but not closer to the hole. That is the Fairway Reference Point. Now draw an imaginary line from the hole through the ball reference point and through the fairway reference point. Add two club lengths into the fairway, that is your relief area. You can now drop a ball anywhere in that relief area, but it will cost you two strokes. The diagram (right) will help you understand how to build that relief area.

Men's Golf Association Newsletter

March 2019

Vol. 6, No 1

If Your Ball is Lost

So, what do you do if your ball is lost on the course? Remember, Local Rule E-5 cannot be used if your ball is lost in a penalty area. If you can't find your ball after an exhaustive 3-minute search, you need to estimate the point on the course where you think your ball is lost. That is your Ball Reference Point. Just as you did with the ball OB, look for the point on the edge of the fairway that is nearest to the Ball Reference Point but not closer to the hole that is the Fairway Reference Point. Draw that imaginary line again through both reference points and drop in the relief area (don't forget your two club lengths into the fairway, and oh yea – those two strokes). Here is another illustration to help you visualize it.

OB or Lost Ball Near the Green

Let's say you're a cool 125 yards to the hole. You swing an easy 9 iron and lift up just a hair at impact to see your skulled ball go clear over the green and OB (or lost in some really nasty scrub pine). How do you implement Local Rule E-5 in this situation? What is important to remember in this sitch is that you cannot drop the ball any closer to the hole. Estimate the distance from the hole to where you went OB (or where your ball was lost). Let's say that is approximately 30 yards. Then once again find the nearest fairway (on the same hole) and make sure you are no closer than 30 yards. This will result in a very large relief area, so figure out what works best for you. You have to drop in the General Area, not on the putting green or in a bunker, as if you would. Again, here is a picture to help you visualize how to take this relief.

Local Rule E-5 should be a helpful tool to speed up play and keep us from having to go back to where we hit the previous shot to reload.

As a reference for all, here's a link to the USGA's Golf's New Rules you can save to your browser.

Statistically Speaking (Bob Axelrod)

Join the Fun in 2019's MGA Cup Championship

What! You didn't sign up for this season's MGA Cup Championship? Why not???

Oh, you don't know what it is? Think FedEx Cup! It's a season-long tournament in which you earn points for every round you play. And big money cash prizes go to the leaders with the winners getting their name on the beautiful trophy in the clubhouse.

Oh, you can't compete against the "good" golfers or you can't compete against the high handicappers? It's 100% handicapped and played in two flights by handicap. Last season's finalists included some single-digit guys in the first flight and some 20-somethings in the second flight. Everybody had a shot at the money!

Oh, you'll be away for a while and won't be earning points every week? Not to worry! Only your best 16 rounds count! And one of our finalists last year had even fewer rounds.

Oh, you don't understand how the new playoff system will work? Well it's like the new FedEx Cup playoff system. At the end of the Cup season in mid October the top twelve players in each flight are in the money and play in a three-week playoff. The leaders get extra "seed strokes" but there's no cut so all twelve have a shot at the big bucks!

Oh, you already signed up for the MGA and didn't indicate you wanted to play in the Cup? It's not too late. Just drop off a $25 check (made out to CFNMGA) at the pro shop and you'll be in.

Any other reasons for not joining the fun? Or any questions? Drop me an email at axelrodb1948@yahoo.com or talk to me in the bar or on the course. The MGA Cup Committee strives to make this tournament as inclusive as possible so we're really interested to learn why you won't join.

So, ready to play in the 2019 MGA Cup Championship? We're looking forward to a great season with bigger prizes than ever before. Last year's winners took home about $200 in cash prizes and $600 in cash was distributed to the finalists in each flight. We're hoping for more participation and bigger prizes this year!

InterClub Matches and North Brunswick Cup (Dave Will)

We can't be prouder of the players that represent Cape Fear National

For those of you that are new to CFN and to refresh everyone else's memory matches are held monthly April through September, rotating among the six participating clubs of St. James Plantation, River Landing, Landfall, Porters Neck, Compass Pointe and Cape Fear National.

Twelve players plus one pro from each club make up the teams. The format is a two-man, best ball, match play competition using handicaps. One point is awarded to the winners of each nine plus one for the overall match. The selection of the CFN team that will represent CFN each month is done by a voluntary committee of four members selected by the Chairman. The selection committee will select the monthly teams based on how consistently you play to your handicap, your standing in the MGA Cup, and your participating in MGA events.

Teams will be announced two weeks ahead of the scheduled match

Teams will be paired by handicap from low to high. A cumulative point total will be kept with team recording the most points will be the 2019 ICI champ!

At each match the host club will run another tournament for gift certificate prizes. It will be played concurrently with the ICI matches and will be 2 net best balls of the foursome using 100% handicap. This is included in your $60 entry fee.

North Brunswick Cup

The NBC is a three-day competition between teams from CFN, Magnolia Greens and Compass Pointe. Participation is offered by invitation from the Team Captain and Head Professional from each club. The NBC team is made up of twelve players generally representing the lowest handicapped players from each club plus two alternates.

The format is based on the Stableford system with a quota. Play this year will be May 16 - 19 rotating among all three courses. This is a very competitive tournament, which has only recently been expanded to include the three neighboring clubs.

Handicap Committee (Jim Payne)

The MGA strives to maintain the integrity of the game through ones personal handicap

During the past year we have had a number of new MGA golf members and we on the Handicap Committee would like welcome you.

One of the reasons why golfers join the MGA is that it provides them with an opportunity to participate in the MGA organized competitions. All our competitions are gross and/or net (handicap) events, which is why we require that you have an established handicap (see the Pro shop) and enter/post all your scores in the handicap computer, or by using a mobile app on your device. Here are some basic handicap explanations:

Handicap Index: A Handicap Index is the number that indicates a player's skill and is taken to one decimal place (ex. 10.4). You might refer to your Index as your "raw" handicap. You never actually use this Index while playing; rather, you must first convert it using the slope of the specific set of tees you are playing in order to get a Course's Handicap. This will create a whole number, and this number is what makes your Handicap Index portable from course to course. You might need fewer strokes on an easier course and more strokes on a harder course.

You need to post at least five acceptable scores in order in order for a handicap index to be generated. We utilize the Golf Handicap and Information System (GHIN) program to compute our handicap index. GHIN will display a Trend number after five scores. It is not a handicap index, but your index can be computed using those five scores. Once your scoring record contains 20 scores, the best ten scores are automatically used to calculate the handicap index.

Handicap: This is the handicap you will play with at a particular course from a particular set of tees. It is based on the conversion of your USGA Handicap Index using the Course Handicap Table. These tables or the Slope Conversion Charts are available in any pro shop or are available on line.

Quotes, Jokes and Anecdotes

"I have a tip that can take 5 strokes off anyone's golf game ... It's called an eraser."

Arnold Palmer

Men's Golf Association Newsletter

March 2019

Vol. 6, No 1

Equitable Stroke Control (ESC): ESC are rules wherein you are limited to posting a maximum number of strokes on any hole depending on your course handicap. ESC was established to ensure that a handicap is more representative of a player's potential ability. For example, a player with a course handicap of 11 has the misfortune of taking a 10 on a par 4. Under the rules of ESC, the player may post no more than a 7 on that hole, because a 10 is not a true indicator of his ability. If however, the player is playing in a "stroke Play" event; his tournament score must include the 10. The ESC formula is posted on the Handicap bulletin board in the Pro Shop.

Unfinished Holes and Conceded Strokes: A player who starts, but does not complete a hole must record "for handicap" purposes, the most likely score. For example, in a match, you have a 20-foot putt for a 4 on hole 10 and your opponent makes a 3. You pick up because you cannot better your opponent's score. You would record a X5 on the scorecard because a 5 would be your most likely score. There is no limit on the number of unfinished holes you may have in a round, provided you are not trying to manipulate your handicap.

Scores to post: You must post an 18 hole score if you play 13 or more holes. You must post a 9-hole score if you play at least 7 holes.

The above are just the basics on the Handicap process, but they will help to ensure you have an accurate handicap. Post higher scores than you are entitled to, or do not post all of your scores, you run the risk of being labeled a "sandbagger" which per Google is "a derogatory term in golf that applies to golfers who cheat by pretending to be worse golfers than they really are." However, on the other end of the spectrum, if you post only your good scores, or scores that are lower than the actual score, you will have a "vanity" handicap which places your partners in a disadvantage.

If you need more info, or help with the handicap computer, please seek out Ryan, Don, or members of the handicap committee.

Treasurer's Report (John Lane)

The MGA's goal is to provide enjoyable experience camaraderie for the membership

The CFN MGA started this year with a carryover in the Operating Budget of $1,425 and an additional $75 in the Hole-In-One Club for a starting checking account balance of $1,500 for 2019.

So far this year the CFN has collected an additional $8,586 broken down as follows:

- $7,200 paid in by 120 Members (New and Returning) at $60/man.
- $1,125 paid in by the 45 men signed up to compete for the MGA Cup at $25/man
- $261 paid in to the Hole-In-One Club

This all equals $10,086, which is our balance as of February 27, 2019

During the MGA season we receive $1 from the $5 that is paid by each Member playing in the MGA event that week. If we have 25 MGA outings in the 2019 season with an average of 50 players then we would receive $1,250 to add to the balance above; however, we keep the MGA Cup entry fees and the HIO (Hole In One) payments separate from the MGA Operating Budget since all of those monies are paid out to the competitors in the MGA Cup competition or the person(s) that get a Hole-In-One.

The MGA is about friendly competition and getting to know your neighbors better while learning the joys and the rules of golf. The MGA Operating Budget is well suited to provide funds for our Opening Day festivities on March 13 with lunch and a couple of drinks compliments of the CFN MGA. During the year the MGA will host Keg Days so Members can enjoy a couple of beers or fountain drinks and occasionally light appetizers.

We also allocate about $5,500 to the MGA Annual Awards Banquet in December which last year covered the cost of the buffet and we provided wine (white and red) at each table. We usually budget for 100 attendees at the Annual Awards Banquet, which is also about the capacity for the Forest Restaurant, and about 90 guys attend every year.

While people are still signing up for the 2019 MGA season, as of February 22nd, there are 21 New Members included in the 120 guys that have signed up thus far and there are 35 Members from last year that have yet to sign up.

As usual there are some medical situations that require a recovery period so some are waiting to see when they will be able to get back on the course and we wish them all a speedy and safe recovery.

Thanks and I look forward to seeing you out on the course!
